CANADIAN ANNEXATION. A Sermon in Payor of the Idea-Rev. Mr. Allen Talks Out in Meeting-

Remarkable Discourse. TORONTO, Nov. 26 .- Rev. J. A. Allen preached last evening in the Episcopal Ca-thedral, to a large and fashionable audience in favor of annexation to the United States. The reverend gentleman in his opening address, remarked: "I am aware that what I am about to advocate is at the present moment distasteful to a small portion of the inhabitants of Canada, and there may be a few ignorant persons present who may accuse me of disloyalty to England. Yet, what I am going to advise is not only in the interest of Canada, but in an especial degree of Great Britain. Let no one be startled when I say that the greater portion of the inhabitants of Canada are in favor of annexation to the United States. Every question, whether from the pulpit or the restrum, should be calmly discussed, for troth is sure to be elicited in a collision

"The thunderer of England informs us The thunderer of England informs us that we are a drag on England; that the mother country has to supply us with men, money and ships, and erect forts for our defense, and that we are the only weak point in the British empire; but if annexed to the United States, we should be a source of strength. Our members of Congress could speak, in the halls of Washing ton, of the gentle rule of England, and we could teach the Americans that England was their friend, and educate a better spirit among her people, which would end in a full reconciliation and lasting good will.

full reconciliation and lasting good will.

"England and America are strong in unity. No great wrong could be perpetrated in the world against their will. Has not the publis press of England, the organ of the national mind, told us again and again, you are a people thousands of miles remote from us, and who can form a juster opinion of what is for your interest than we who are so far distant? Compile your we who are so far distant? Consult your own well being, and ask to be annexed to the great Republic. If you stay with us, you must defend yourselves. Let us be friends. This being the interpretation of public opinion in England, why should it be styled treason in Canada by those at the head of our Government?"

The learned divine continued at great length in explaining the sentiments of the Canadians toward the United States during the rebellion, and said that it was the duit of Canada to be annexed to the United States, in order that by their votes they could save to the South all her former rights under the old Union, and of reconciling the North and South.
